Plants as Providers of Fine Chemicals

at the School of Chemistry, Bangor University

Thursday 1st September 2011

"The first conference of its kind to be held in the UK"

Keynote address by Dr Jeremy Tomkinson,
CEO of NNFC, the UK's National Centre for Biorenewable Energy, Fuels and Materials
"Sustainable Chemicals from Plant Sources"

This conference will highlight recent advances in plant chemistry, in particular the application of plant extracts or purified compounds as pharmaceutical, plant protection agents, cosmetic ingredients, or for other industrial applications. Speakers at this event will be experts from government, industry and academia. Researchers working in the field of plant chemistry are invited to attend this very relevant event.
